New Year, New You! SPRING 2021 Semester

We are ready to begin our new Spring 2021 Semester at The Learning Source and are reaching out to all our learners - new and prospective - to let you know we are very encouraged at the potential of a new year!

We know last year had a special set of challenges, especially considering the strain that COVID-19 put on our instructors and students. Now is the time to move on and make your education a priority. Whether you are continuing classes or know someone who would benefit from The Learning Source - we are here to support you on your educational journey!

Please click on the articles below for more information about being a successful adult student and tips to help you achieve as you go back to class.

A couple excerpts from the articles:
"The key to managing your schedule is the organization of your time. Set
